*"Thank You" Day 2010
Thursday, 25 November*

All involved in medical research

Your enquiring nature, and commitment to research and making the lives of people better in the future remains an inspiration to me as both a potential patient, and someone involved in clinical research. Please continue what you do

All medical researchers

You contribute so greatly to us all and should get far more recognition. Thankyou, and please never stop.

Blood Disorders

Thank you for all your hard work in researching

Cancer Researchers

The impact of cancer is far reaching and ongoing, and like so many people, the disease has impacted on my immediate family and friends. To everyone involved in Research Australia - a sincere and heartfelt Thank You.

Congenital heart disease research

thank you for your research into congenital heart diseases. Your research has provided a greater understanding and awareness of my illness sinus tachicardia in youth amongst cardiologists.

Fertility and infertility research

Thank you - you make it possible for me to do IVF and work towards my dream of having a baby!

Heart and Circulatory Conditions

Thank you for inventing the stent. It has saved me from a blockage in my heart and patched up my dissected artery. I have seven now and am grateful for the chance they (and you) have given me to be with my children for more years.

Heart Disease Researchers at HRI

Thank you for devising new ways to prevent death and suffering from the World's No 1 Killer, heart disease.

Hunter Medical Research Institute

I would like to thank the members of the HMRI Board, HMRI Foundation and PULSE and the Hunter corporate and community supporters for their tireless efforts in support of our researchers.

Manee Gleeson Director

Immune System Allergies & Infectious diseases

I want to thank you for all your true dedication and tireless effort under extremely difficult conditions and times.

JHEC (diabetes)

Thanks for doing your job cheerfully and pursuing a career in research! It's not about the money it's about quality of lives (:

Many Researchers

every year we say thanks through telethon and believe any opportunity to thank medical staff and researches is an opportunity not to be missed

Medical research

I am interested in about any or all of your researches related to sexual transmitted diseases mainly AIDS, HIV and HERPES

Monash Medical Centre

Thank you for caring for my former Wife Simone Peters . She is deeply loved by her husband Rob and our two sons Marcus and Chris . As her former husband I also care for her as friend and former partner. Please keep her safe and positive.

*Peter Morant
MS Society*

A genuine Thank You to all involved in the research of MS. It doesn't receive the same level of public awareness as other illnesses, though it is reassuring to know that there is still much hard work going on behind the scenes.

Peter MacCallum Cancer Centre

I just want to say a heartfelt thank you as my brother has suffered thyroid cancer and was treated here. The work, support, and treatment you give people like my brother enable people like me to have brothers around to share with, laugh with and love with.

Prof Eric Yeoh and Staff of the Dept of Radiation Oncology, RAH

Thank you for working tirelessly to improve cancer patient outcomes in survival rates and quality of lives through ongoing research and precised treatment deliveries - especially in prostate cancer patients.

Prostate cancer research

thank you for your research into prostrate cancer, the awareness through the media and research saved my dad.

Researchers

Thankyou everybody involved in research! The world is a better place because of you.
